Dear Charles:

Congratulations to you and your team for receiving this year's Network and Communications Management Capstone Award.

As you know, this Keller Graduate School of Management award is given to the student/team that best demonstrates the ability to apply technical and management skills to related real-world situations. Your team's Patriot Air Defense Telecommunications System project clearly encompasses all of the elements required to be successful.

We wish you and your team great success should you choose to pursue this project as well as in all of your future endeavors. We're certain that your Keller Graduate School of Management education will serve you well along the way.

Sincerely,
